THE IDEAL PULMONARY INSPIRATOR.

Sold only on Prescriptions from Physicians.

A perfect apparatus for the treatment of diseases of the Respiratory Organs by the inhalation of antiseptic remedies in dry or moist heated air.

Heated Oxygen Gas can be safely administered at any desired temperature, separately, or in combination with medicated dry or moist heated air.

The volume of medication set free in the heated current is under perfect control of the operator.

Remarkable results are being realized by the use of this instrument in Tuberculosis, Bronchitis, Asthma, Emphysema, Catarrh, Laryngitis, Pharyngitis, and "La Grippe"—also, in all forms of chronic disease dependent in part, or in whole, on the want of oxygen in the vital fluids.

In an average case of Phthisis, the tubercle bacilli usually disappear from the sputa in from three to six months.

A complete list of formulæ of antiseptic remedies is furnished—to the physician only—with the instrument.

This apparatus is used and prescribed by eminent physicians, among whom are the following well known names :

Prof. Clarence C. Rice, of the N. Y. Post-Graduate School and Bellevue Hospital, Out-Door Department.

Prof. Geo. B. Flower, of the N. Y. Post-Graduate School and Bellevue Hospital.

Prof. O. B. Douglass, of the N. Y. Post-Graduate School and Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital.

Prof. J. Monfort Schley, of the N. Y. Hom. Med. College and Hospital.

Prof. St. Clair Smith, of the N. Y. Hom. Med. College and Hospital.

Prof. H. M. Dearborne, of the N. Y. Hom. Med. College and Hospital.

Prof. Henry C. Houghton, of the N. Y. Hom. Med. College and Hospital.

Prof. J. E. Stillwell.

CAUTION.

Physicians are cautioned against the antiquated "Woodward Inhaler," recently advertised by implication as identical with the cut in its advertisement, with the exception of the head, being a fraudulent reproduction of our own.

G. B. Underwood did purchase a license, but never manufactured Inhalers under the Woodward patents, this Inhaler proving not only unsatisfactory, but dangerous in use.

G. B. Underwood & Co. own fundamental titles of their own invention, and will protect all purchasers of their goods against disreputable pretenders, and all infringers and libelers will be vigorously prosecuted.

REASONS WHY MARKS' Artificial Limbs with Rubber Hands and Feet ARE THE BEST.

BECAUSE—They are the most comfortable to wear. They are fitted upon scientific principles by competent and skilled fitters who are familiar with the anatomy of human stumps.

GLEN SPRINGS, S. C., August 3, 1894.

A. A. MARKS,

Dear Sir :—I received the artificial leg which you made for me and commenced using it on the 13th of the same month. I must say that it fits the best of any artificial leg I have ever had.

S. S. BEARDON.

BECAUSE—They obviate concussions to stumps. The sponge rubber foot affords a yielding medium to walk, run, jump or alight upon without jarring.

WANGANUI, NEW ZEALAND, June 12, 1894.

A. A. MARKS,

Dear Sir :—On September, 1892, you forwarded to me an artificial leg for my son. It has given the greatest satisfaction. My son has worn it continuously, he can do all sorts of work, he can walk all day in a rough country and never becomes sore or lame. He has jumped ten flight of hurdles, 3 feet 3 inches high, in 120 yards. I have seen him jump a standard wire fence.

C. M. TAYLOR.

BECAUSE—The method of fitting and construction prevents chafing and abraiding.

OTTAWA, OHIO, July 30, 1894.

A. A. MARKS,

Dear Sir :—The leg which I purchased from you for my daughter about a year ago has been worn constantly. When she received the leg it was a perfect fit. My daughter put it on and wore it to school the first day. The stump has never been chafed or sore. Respectfully, J. S. CARTWRIGHT, C. E.

BECAUSE—They are noiseless. The absence of complicated ankle articulations removes absolutely the tell-tale thud, thump, and flop which are the most objectionable features of all other artificial legs.

“Mr. Marks makes absolutely the best artificial leg I have ever seen. The core of the foot is covered with India rubber so that from the instep to the toes and back to the heel the foot is simply solid spring rubber. The elasticity of the toes and heel compensates for the absence of ankle motion, and in walking there is none of the jarring, ‘dot and go one’ walk so characteristic of the jointed foot.

The buildings are constructed for this special purpose, and they are more complete and better adapted for the treatment of Dipsomania and the Opium Habit than those of any similar institution in existence. They are situated on one of the most attractive points on the Bay of New York, and stand on a high bluff within one thousand feet of the Narrows, commanding a full view of the whole Eastern shore of Staten Island, also the broad expanse of the Upper and Lower Bay, dotted with the representative sails of all nations, and enclosed on the horizon by the blue outlines of the Jersey Coast to the North, and the Atlantic Ocean to the South. There are separate dining-rooms, lodging-rooms and parlors, billiard and bath-rooms. There is also a lecture-room for religious services, readings, concerts, etc. All the New York dailies and other newspapers and periodicals are regularly taken.

By an equitable arrangement we are enabled to offer board, washing and medical attendance at rates varying from $10 to $40 per week. Those paying $16 and upward, according to size and situation of quarters selected, are provided with a single apartment and a seat at table in private dining-room, the accommodations in the select rooms and the table being in every respect equal to those of a first-class hotel. Rooms in suite may be had on terms to be agreed upon.

Patients are received either on their application or by due process of law. For mode and terms of admission, apply to the Superintendent, at the Home, Fort Hamilton (L.I.), New York.

☛ Two daily mails and telegraphic communication to all parts of the country.

HOW TO REACH THE INSTITUTION FROM NEW YORK. Cross the East River to Brooklyn on Fulton Ferryboat, or Bridge, and proceed by Third Avenue electric cars to Fort Hamilton; or, cross from South Ferry on Hamilton Avenue boat, or ferry to the foot of Thirty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, and proceed to Fort Hamilton. Request conductor to leave you at Eighty-ninth Street and Third Avenue.

The requirements for matriculation are those established by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. After the year 1896 this will be a "Medical Student's Certificate," and will be identical with that for Medicine. This will be the only entrance qualification that will entitle graduates of any Dental College to an examination for license to practice in the State of New York.

Students take the course in Oral Surgery, Anatomy, Chemistry, Physiology and Physics, in the Medical Department, in the same classes and with the same teachers as Medical Students.

Dental students are admitted to the Hospitals, and to the Medical and Surgical Clinics, upon the same terms as medical students, and without extra fees. Special Clinics are given for their benefit by the members of the various Hospital Staffs.

Special attention is given to practical work in both the Operative and Mechanical Departments, a Clinical Staff being organized for this particular purpose. The term begins about September 25th, and closes about May 1st.

NEW YORK POST-GRADUATE MEDICAL SCHOOL ^{and} HOSPITAL.

Thirteenth Year. 1894-'95.

The Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital is now permanently located in its new building, which has been erected to fill all the modern requirements of a hospital and medical school. It is an 8-story fire-proof structure, with accommodations for 190 patients. The babies' wards formerly in the adjacent building, are now an integral part of the institution under its own roof. The classes in the school have been so large in the last few years, and the facilities for attending them so cramped, that this building has been erected not only for the classes of practitioners, but also that more patients might be received, in order to form a great teaching hospital. This has now been accomplished, and every opportunity, both in the dispensary and hospital, is afforded in all the departments of medicine and surgery. The great major operations are performed in the amphitheatre of the institution, which is fitted up in the very best manner to secure best surgical results. Pathological and Histological Laboratories are also a part of the school. The Faculty are connected with most of the great hospitals and dispensaries in the city, where other clinics are held for the benefit of the matriculates of the Post-Graduate Medical School. Practitioners may enter at any time.

NATIONAL CODES OF ETHICS.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION,

ADOPTED MAY, 1847.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

Article I.—Duties of Physicians to their Patients.

SECTION 1. A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. These obligations are the more deep and enduring because there is no tribunal, other than his own conscience, to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should therefore minister to the sick with due impressions of the importance of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health, and the lives of those committed to their charge depend on their skill, attention, and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so as to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, so as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect, and confidence.

SECT. 2. Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness, and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard to fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional service; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character, observed during professional attendance, should ever be divulged by the physician, except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great that professional men have, under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of secrecy by courts of justice.

SECT. 3. Frequent visits to the sick are, in general, requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease, to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also to tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxiety to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

SECT. 4. A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism, by magnifying the importance of services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger, when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming, when executed by him, that it ought to be declined whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that by such cordials to the drooping spirit he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquillity of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened, not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of a physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and depress the spirits.

SECT. 5. A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance under such circumstances would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality that moral duty which is independent of and far superior to all pecuniary considerations.

SECT. 6. Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

SECT. 7. The opportunity which a physician not unfrequently enjoys of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients, suffering under the consequences of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offense, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

Article II.—Obligations of Patients to their Physicians.

SECTION 1. The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease, and health for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

SECT. 2. The first duty of a patient is to select, as his medical adviser, one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intuitive.

SECT. 3. Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is the more important, as many diseases of a mental origin stimulate those depending on external causes and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms, and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with the most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

SECTION 1. Every individual, on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty as a body; and while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition in which he finds it.

SECT. 2. It is not in accord with the interests of the public or the honor of the profession that any physician or medical teacher should examine or sign diplomas or certificates of proficiency for, or otherwise be specially concerned with, the graduation of persons whom they have good reasons to believe intend to support and practice any exclusive and irregular system of medicine. (Sect. 2 was adopted in Richmond, 1881.)

SECT. 3. There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence is required than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he cannot command their respect and confidence, and to both because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent upon the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physics requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and in emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head may be essential to the well-being and even to the life of a fellow-creature.

SECT. 4. It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases, publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success; or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of empirics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

SECT. 5. Equally derogatory to professional character is it for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine, or to dispense a secret nostrum, whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicine, or in any way to promote the use of them.

Art. II.—Professional Services of Physicians to each other.

SECTION 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives and their children, while under the parental care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be required. A physician afflicted with disease is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who by the ties of consanguinity is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment, and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances, medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously, as such unmasked civility may give rise to embarrassment, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, requests attendance, and an honorarium be offered, it should not be declined, for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed which the party receiving it would wish not to incur, Art. III.—Of the Duties of Physicians as respects Vicarious Offices.

SECTION 1. The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed, sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period, all the pecuniary obligations for such service should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglects his business, in quest of pleasure and amusement, he cannot be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy, without awarding to the physician who officiates the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety, and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

Art. IV.—Of the Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultation.

SECTION 1. In consultations, no rivalry, or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised toward the physician having charge of the case.

SECT. 2. In consultation the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician shall have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation, and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinions which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent, and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

SECT. 3. In consultation, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first, and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called in. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But such variation, and the reason for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician, if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanations must be made at the next consultation.

SECT. 4. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultation together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But, as professional engagements may sometimes interfere, and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period; after which, the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if he be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal, to be delivered to his associate.

SECT. 5. In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, occasioning perplexity and loss of time; for there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

SECT. 6. All discussion in consultation should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants; they must equally share the credit of success, as well as the blame of failure.

SECT. 7. As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion both of time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

Art. V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of interference.

SECTION 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications, not on intrigue or artifice.

SECT. 2. A physician in his intercourse with a patient under the care of another practitioner should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made, no disingenuous hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

SECT. 3. The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease or the remedies employed; but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

SECT. 4. A physician ought not to take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances no unjust or illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success in the first stage of treatment affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

SECT. 5. When a physician is called to an urgent case because the family attendant is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation is desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately upon his arrival.

SECT. 6. It often happens in cases of sudden illness or of recent accidents or injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present any additional assistance that he may deem necessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and, unless his further assistance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

SECT. 7. When a physician is called to the patient of another practitioner in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought, on the return or recovery of the regular attendant, and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

(The expression "patient of another practitioner" is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness, or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.)

Art. VI.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgments.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty in every town or district relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

Art. VII.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

SECTION 1. As good citizens it is the duty of physicians to be ever vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions; in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.; and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

SECT. 2. Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests and courts of justice on subjects strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poison or other violent means, and in regard to various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make post mortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor, and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

SECT. 3. There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical; but justice requires that some limit should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives, or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform military duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, to obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF HOMŒOPATHY.

SCOPE.

The scope of a Code of Medical Ethics comprises the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and patients; the duties and obligations of physicians to each other; and the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and the public.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

The great principles upon which medical ethics are based are these:—

1. The great end and object of the physician's efforts should be "the greatest good to the patient."

2. The rule of conduct of physician and patient, and of physicians toward each other, should be the GOLDEN RULE, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

The various articles of the code are only special applications of these great principles.

ARTICLE II. Obligations of the Public to Physicians.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE NATIONAL ECLECTIC MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

SECTION 1. The members of this Association shall exercise toward each other, toward all physicians—eclectics especially—and toward all mankind that courtesy and just dealing to which every one in his legitimate sphere is entitled, and any departure therefrom shall be deemed unprofessional, undignified, and unworthy the honorable practitioner of a honorable profession. It shall be regarded as unbecoming to engage in any form of practice, or of advertising, which shall tend to lower the physician in the esteem of the community, or to reflect discredit upon his professional associates.

SECT. 2. While it is the undoubted right of every physician to present himself before the public in an honorable manner, and to state that he makes a specialty of any particular disease, no member of this Association shall advertise himself by handbills, circulars, publication of certificates of cures, or any such means; nor associate himself in business professionally with any one so doing; nor advertise himself as belonging to this Association, or any other auxiliary medical society, or any medical college. Any member knowing of any violation of this provision by members of this Association, or of any person not a member of this Association, or any auxiliary medical society, advertising himself as such, shall inform the Executive Committee of the matter, with all the facts in his possession; and it shall be the duty of the Executive Committee thereupon to publish the facts in some public journal circulating in the region where such offense has been committed.

Discipline of Members.

SECTION 1. Any member may be officially censured, invited to withdraw, or expelled from membership for improper conduct, or a violation of professional comity. But it shall be necessary for a specific charge to be made in writing, and a copy to be presented to the person accused, or some person acting in his behalf, and another placed in the hands of the president or secretary one month before the time of holding a regular meeting.

SECT. 2. All professors or officers of colleges voting and otherwise co-operating in the conferring of the degree of Doctor of Medicine on any person not duly entitled to the same, by the necessary attendance on medical lectures and thorough examination, shall be considered as liable to the penalties enumerated in this article.

CODE OF DENTAL ETHICS.

ADOPTED AT THE SIXTH ANNUAL SESSION OF THE AMERICAN DENTAL ASSOCIATION.

Article I.—The Duties of the Profession to their Patients.

SECTION 1. The dentist should be ever ready to respond to the wants of his patrons, and should fully recognize the obligations involved in the discharge of his duties toward them. As they are in most cases unable to correctly estimate the character of his operations, his own sense of right must guarantee faithfulness in their performance. His manner should be firm, yet kind and sympathizing, so as to gain the respect and confidence of his patients; and even the simplest case committed to his care should receive that attention which is due to operations performed on living, sensitive tissue.

SECT. 2. It is not to be expected that the patient will possess a very extended or a very accurate knowledge of professional matters. The dentist should make due allowance for this, patiently explaining many things which may seem quite clear to himself, thus endeavoring to educate the public mind so that it will properly appreciate the beneficent efforts of our profession. He should encourage no false hopes by promising success, when, in the nature of the case, there is uncertainty.

SECT. 3. The dentist should be temperate in all things, keeping both mind and body in the best possible health, that his patients may have the benefit of that clearness of judgment and skill which is their right.

Art. II.—Maintaining Professional Character.

SECTION 1. A member of the dental profession is bound to maintain its honor, and to labor earnestly to extend its sphere of usefulness. He should avoid everything in language and conduct calculated to dishonor his profession, and should ever manifest a due respect for his brethren. The young should show special respect to their seniors; the aged special encouragement to their juniors.

SECT. 2. The person and office arrangements of the dentist should indicate that he is a gentleman; and he should sustain a high-toned moral character.

SECT. 3. It is unprofessional to resort to public advertisements, cards, handbills, posters, or signs, calling attention to peculiar styles of work, lowness of prices, special modes of operating; or to claim superiority over neighboring practitioners; to publish reports of cases or certificates in the public prints; to go from house to house to solicit or perform operations; to circulate or recommend nostrums; or to perform any other similar acts.

SECT. 4. When consulted by the patient of another practitioner, the dentist should guard against inquiries or hints disparaging to the family dentist, or calculated to weaken the patient's confidence in him; and if the interests of the patient will not be endangered thereby, the case should be temporarily treated and referred back to the family dentist.

SECT. 5. When general rules shall have been adopted by members of the profession practicing in the same localities in relation to fees, it is unprofessional and dishonorable to depart from those rules, except when variation of circumstances requires it. And it is ever to be regarded as unprofessional to warrant operations or work as an inducement to patronage.

Art. III.—The Relative Duties of Dentists and Physicians.

Dental surgery is a specialty in medical science. Physicians and dentists should both bear this in mind. The dentist is professionally limited to diseases of the dental organs and mouth. With these he should be more familiar than the general practitioner is expected to be; and while he recognizes the superiority of the physician in regard to diseases of the general system, the latter is under equal obligations to respect his higher attainments in his specialty. When this principle governs, there can be no conflict or even diversity of professional interests.

Art. IV.—The Mutual Duties of the Profession and the Public.

Dentists are frequent witnesses, and, at the same time, the best judges of the impositions perpetrated by quacks, and it is their duty to enlighten and warn the public in regard to them. For this and the many other benefits conferred by the competent and honorable dentist, the profession is entitled to the confidence and respect of the public, who should always discriminate in favor of the true man of science and integrity against the empiric and impostor. The public has no right to tax the time and talents of the profession in examinations, prescriptions, or in any way without proper remuneration.

such person does not reside in the state of Connecticut, then the state board of health shall transmit said statement and certificate to the town clerk of the town in the state nearest to the place of residence of such person; and said town clerks shall record the same in books to be provided for that purpose by the state board of health, and shall then return the same to the person who filed the same with the board of health; and said town clerk shall receive for such recording a fee of twenty-five cents, to be paid by the state board of health out of the amount so paid to it as aforesaid.

S., or any other letters specifically used by any medical or dental college, school board or society to indicate that the person to whose name they are appended holds a recognized medical or dental degree shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars or by imprisonment for not less than three months, or by both fine and imprisonment; all fines and forfeitures of bail imposed and collected in consequence of violations of this Act shall be paid to the Dental Society of the State of New York: Provided, That if at the annual meetings of said society the treasurer shall report an excess of the sums so paid over the expenses of the society in enforcing this Act, such excess shall be paid over by him to the treasurer of the State and become part of the common school fund: Provided, also, That any such fine or forfeiture imposed in an action brought by an incorporated county medical society for violations of the provisions of this Act relating to medical diplomas shall be paid to said prosecuting society.

SECT. 5. Sections eight, nine and ten of chapter one hundred and fifty-two of the laws of eighteen hundred and sixty-eight, shall read respectively as follows:

SECT. 8. The State Dental Society, organized as aforesaid, having already at its first meeting appointed eight censors, one from each of the said district societies, to constitute a State Board of Censors, divided into four classes, to serve one, two, three and four years, respectively, shall at each annual meeting appoint two censors, to serve each four years, and until their successors shall be chosen, and fill all vacancies that may have occurred in the Board by death or otherwise. Each district society shall be entitled to one, and only one, member of said Board of Censors. Said Board of Censors shall meet at least once in each year, at such time and place as they shall designate, and, being thus met, they, or a majority of them, shall carefully and impartially examine all persons who are entitled to examination under the provisions of this Act, and who shall present themselves for that purpose, and report their opinion in writing to said State Dental Society, and on the recommendation of the said Board it shall be the duty of the president aforesaid to issue a diploma to such person or persons, signed by the president, the secretary and said censors, and bearing the seal of said society, conferring upon him the degree of "master of dental surgery" (M. D. S.), and it shall not be lawful for any other society, college or corporation to grant to any person the said degree of "master of dental surgery."

SECT. 9. The State Dental Society shall have the power to determine what medical and dental colleges maintain a course of education and training adequate in duration and standard to entitle their diplomas to be approved and certified by the censors as qualifying their holders to be licensed to practice dentistry in this State, and so registered. Said society shall admit to its examinations, provided for in section eight of this Act, only the following classes of persons, upon satisfactory proof of good moral characters :

1. All duly licensed and registered dentists of this State.
2. All persons coming from other States or countries who shall present to said society satisfactory proof of having been lawfully engaged in the practice of dentistry without the State for the term of six years.
3. All such persons as shall have studied dentistry for a term of four years in the office or offices of some reputable and duly licensed and registered dentist or dentists of this State, and shall have in other respects conformed to the regulations governing such examinations, which regulations not inconsistent with this Act said society may make and must publish at least twice in each calendar year in a leading dental journal. Every person actually engaged at the time this Act takes effect in studying dentistry under private preceptorship, as aforesaid, must, within three months from the passage of this Act, file with the secretary of the State Dental Society a statement of his or her age, present address, commencement of terms of study and the name of his or her preceptors, who shall also certify that said statement, so far as it relates to himself, is true. Any person beginning such a course of study after the Act takes effect shall file a similar certificate, and until it shall be made the term of four years required by the statute shall not be deemed to be commenced. No such student shall be eligible for examination for its diploma by said society who shall not have filed one of said certificates, all of which shall be preserved, bound and indexed by said secretary. Any willfully false statement in any such certificates shall preclude the person making it from the privilege of examination. The censor for each judicial district of said State society shall be empowered to examine any applicant for the examination or certification of diploma granted under this Act as to his or her age, identity, course of study, and if a diploma is offered for certification as to the time, place and circumstance of its conferment. In so doing the censors are empowered to reduce the applicant's statements to the form of an affidavit and administer the usual oath in respect thereto taken by affiants as to the truth of depositions in legal proceedings.

SECT. 10. Every student, before filing the certificate called for by this Act, shall pay to the secretary of the said State society a fee of five dollars. Every applicant for a censor's certificate, that his or her diploma is approved by said society as entitling the holder to registration, shall pay to the secretary of said society, at the time of his application, a fee of ten dollars. Every applicant for examination by the censors of said society shall pay to said secretary, at the time of his application, a fee of thirty dollars. None of these fees shall be returned to the applicant, but shall be paid into the treasury of said society. But any applicant for examination before said censors, who may have failed to obtain his diploma, may, for good cause shown, be allowed thereafter to present himself for examination without payment of a further fee.

SECT. 6. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to punish any person for performing merely mechanical work upon inert matter in a dental office or laboratory; or a registered student who, for purposes of clinical instruction, in the presence and under the immediate supervision of his preceptor, may assist the latter in dental operation, providing that such student shall not, under the pretense of so assisting a preceptor, practice dentistry by performing operations independently ; or a duly licensed and registered physician or surgeon for his lawful acts in the practice of his profession. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to suspend or discontinue any prosecution already commenced under the laws in force prior to the taking effect of this Act, and any violation of the provisions of this Act forbidding the practice of dentistry without lawful authority, committed by a person who shall have been previously convicted under the laws of which this Act is a codification, in any court within this State as the misdemeanor of practicing dentistry without license or registration, shall be deemed a second offense within the meaning of this Act ; such laws being to that extent kept in force.

INEBRIETY, OPIUM,
MORPHINE, COCAINE, AND OTHER DRUG HABITS, ARE PERMANENTLY and PAINLESSLY CURED AT RIVERSIDE SANITARIUM.

The records of Riverside show a larger per cent. of authentic cures, and a better physical condition of the patient during and after treatment, than any similar place in the country.

SPECIAL ATTENTION

Is given to cases of Inebriety and Drug Habits, that have failed of cure under other treatment.

In Drug Cases, the freedom from the usual pain and suffering incident to treatment is so marked, that it is Painless in comparison with any other known method.

As the number of patients in the Home is limited, applications for admission must be made in advance.
